

Year after year,

God continues to bless His church and the rest of the world through the prophetic writings and ministry of Ellen G. White. I am thankful for the inspired insights God gave His messenger over a century ago. The holiday season is a time I can slow down and reflect upon the wonderful gifts

God has extended to me and my family. It's also a time that I love to share my blessings with others: family, loved ones, friends, plus several charities and church ministries.

On December 25, 1890, Ellen White wrote in her diary,

"I had a very precious blessing all night. I slept some but my heart was full of praise and thanksgiving to God. . . The peace of Christ rested upon me in large measure." She reflected, "The Christmas season is the occasion of making gifts one to another, but the richest gifts Christ has given to the world in Himself, that the world through Him might not perish but have eternal life. Gifts and offerings should be brought to Christ. The most precious gift of all is that of giving Him your heart without any reserve" (Ms 53, 1890).

This December, as we reflect on God's wonderful love revealed through Jesus, our Savior, I invite you to make a generous contribution to the Ellen White Writings Ministry. This past year, our faithful supporters helped make this precious gift of light available through our EGWwritings.org website and apps to more than 100 million visitors, in 145 languages, and 200 countries. Your generosity will continue to make a difference to millions of people, for both this life and eternity. Thank you for helping to make our vital ministry freely available worldwide,

Merlin Burt
Director.
